Planning process statement:

The selection of topics for this Companion Meeting was gathered from the input of the executive committee and several senior members of the North American Society of Head and Neck Pathology, all of whom have served in leadership or speaking roles for the society in the past. The topics were selected by the speakers in order to highlight recent development in the areas of surgical and cytopathology in head and neck, and how to avoid pitfalls that even experts in the field may make. The objectives of this meeting are aimed to help the attendees stay current in diagnostic criteria in important head and neck lesions.

NASHNP endorses this program and its delivery of critical information to those who review head and neck pathology.

Respectfully submitted,

Susan Müller, DMD, MS
Secretary, North American Society of Head and Neck Pathology
